Nicholas Wright : Cressida (NHB Modern Plays) (Nick Hern Books) before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Cressida (NHB Modern Plays) (Nick Hern Books):

A comedy drama set in the seedily glamorous world of 17th-century London theatre. John Shank is an actor, talent-scout and trainer of boy players in the 1630s, when women's roles are still played by precocious boys. Up to his eyes in debt, Shank's only hope of escaping destitution is an unpromising 14-year-old would-be, Stephen Hammerton. Can he train up Stephen to be the new star of the London stage? 'Delightful, light-minded comedy of manners' - Evening Standard

About the Author Nicholas Wright's Vincent in Brixton won rave reviews and the Olivier Award for Best Play. The West End production was subsequently seen on Broadway. His adaptations include Pirandello's Naked and Wedekind's Lulu, as well as the new His Dark Materials and Chekhov's Three Sisters, both for the National Theatre in London.
