Shelley Silas : Falling (Oberon Modern Plays) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Falling (Oberon Modern Plays):

If we can't have a baby, we'll have a holiday.Pete and Linda have everything, except the most fashionable accessory of the season - a baby. And it doesn't look like a stork will be flying past their house. But there's more to life than procreation... Falling is a moving and funny investigation of the modern extended family.

About the Author Shelley was born in Calcutta and moved to London with her family when she was a child. She was a winner in the ICA's New Blood fiction competition (1996) with her short story Via Calcutta, published in the on-line anthology Endangered Species.
