Must Read!By trevytoeHerrera's report from the Latina/o Theatre Commons 2013 National Convening does an excellent job of recounting this landmark event. This book should be included in a wide variety of theater courses (both Latina/o and not) as it is a blueprint for how to institute a commons-based approach to art making. Herrera's writing style makes for a smooth and easy read that should inspire any reader. Buy this book! 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. this book made me feel like I was there--not as a participant

An engaging and inspiring read. Although I did not attend the conference, this book made me feel like I was there--not as a participant, but as a welcome observer.

This book offers a detailed narrative account of what happened at the 2013 Latina/o Theatre Commons National Convening which was the first national gathering of U.S. Latina/o theatermakers in more than twenty five years. The convening was hosted by HowlRound: A Center for the Theater Commons at Emerson College in Boston, October 31 to November 2, 2013.
